

Language Policy at the International School of Iceland

ISI Mission Statement

The mission of ISI is to create an adaptive environment that is academically stimulating and supportive. As an international program with an English and Bilingual Stream, we value multilingualism and encourage international-mindedness.

Our vision is to create a dynamic community of confident, creative, and respectful learners.

The International School of Iceland's guiding statements are the foundation for our language policy. As language forms the basis for all learning, this policy is critical for helping the school to achieve its guiding statements.

We believe that:

- All members of the International School of Iceland community are language teachers and learners.
- Language is the principal method of communication and learning, so we encourage language learning as a life-long process, promoting academic and social growth.
- Language helps us develop and value our own identity.
- Language allows us to communicate effectively and be active members of our communities.
- Each student has different language needs, both in and out of the classroom.
- Language learning gives us a new way of seeing the world and can be the basis for global citizenship; it allows students to see other cultures from a new perspective and develop an international mindset.
- Language learning is challenging, requiring students to be willing to make mistakes, persevere and take the initiative.
- Language learning can make us comfortable with failure and can be one more step toward a growth mind-set.

Language Overview at ISI

Our Story: English Medium School - Bilingual School - IB MYP program

ISI has its roots in the American Embassy School and was originally created to serve the needs of the local diplomatic community. When the school transitioned into an international school in 2004, the student body reflected the small globally mobile community: families working in Iceland for 2-3 years in the foreign service, university or business community. These families were seeking an English-speaking program for their children.

Over the next few years the school grew and the student body changed, with more and more students living in Iceland on a permanent basis. In 2008, to respond to these changes, a Bilingual Stream was created. The Bilingual Stream is based on a dual language immersion model, as developed by Elizabeth R. Howard and Donna Christian at the Center for Applied Linguistics (www.cal.org). The original English medium program remained and was renamed The English Stream.

As ISI has transitioned to the IB MYP program, curriculum changes have taken place in several areas, including language learning, to better reflect the IB program model. ISI will not offer a bilingual option to students in the MYP program. However, Icelandic language enrichment is an important component of the curriculum, and will be offered in two core classes per year. Within the IB MYP program, Language A, Language & Literature, is English and Language B, Language Acquisition, is Icelandic. The level of Icelandic will depend on the students' levels of proficiency. For students with different linguistic backgrounds, ISI partners with various outside resources to meet those needs. "A language policy needs to be dynamic and flexible so that it can evolve with the changing needs of the school population." (pg. 1, Guidelines for developing a school language policy).

Our Student Body

Typical Student Profiles: A Variety of Language Backgrounds

Typical student profiles at our school include:

- Students who come from a third country, e.g. Belgium and arrive at school with little or no English skills. Typically these students are strong in their native language.
- Students who come from the host country, Iceland, with little or no English and are native Icelandic speakers. These students are usually quick to pick up English and will often, as they become more competent, prefer English to Icelandic. This is especially evident in upper primary.
- Students in the English stream who have some foundation in English (BICS) but lack CALP, cognitive academic language proficiency.
- Students in the bilingual stream who speak a third language at home, e.g. Russian and have limited English and Icelandic skills.

ISI Language Diversity

The International School of Iceland is proud of its diverse student body. This naturally leads to different linguistic needs as students are native speakers, new to the language and with a broad range of linguistic proficiency.

Support for Mother Tongue Learning

ISI provides information on their website about Mother Tongue teaching groups. We recommend that families with plurilingual children make use of the resources.

In school: We encourage children to read for pleasure in their mother tongue. Students are encouraged to lead student-led conferences in the home language.

Language Profile

Student language profiles are created for all students in the IB MYP. Various assessment tools are used to create a language profile, including parent surveys, MAP scores, student self-assessments and other formal and informal assessments. Upon entry to ISI, parents/students are required to complete a language profile form to indicate the student's proficiency levels in English, Icelandic, the student's mother tongue and any additional languages. If needed, the school's language teachers and speech & language pathologist are consulted to determine correct placement.

Progression of Language Learning

While Language Acquisition follows distinct phases, students' rate of acquisition varies greatly from individual to individual. Therefore, language teachers assess all language skills (listening, reading, speaking and writing) regularly. Teachers differentiate through scaffolding or task extensions as required in order to help the students reach the Language Acquisition objectives in the appropriate phases. Formative and summative assessments in the classroom provide information on language development and are modified and differentiated as appropriate.

English in the MYP program

All students in the IB MYP program are enrolled in English Language and Literature. Through information gathered in language profiles, students' English language abilities are leveled. If students are not proficient in English (reading, writing, speaking, listening), additional sheltering strategies are offered in the form of an access teacher.

We include the following sheltering strategies:

- Extralinguistic cues such as visuals, props, or body language
- Linguistic modifications such as repetition and pauses during speech
- Frequent comprehension checks (verbal and written)
- Cooperative learning strategies
- Annotated texts, text summaries, read aloud

Student language profiles are updated throughout the year, and support offered to students is adjusted accordingly.

Icelandic Language Acquisition

Icelandic, the language of our host country, is compulsory for all students in the Middle Years Program.

This helps our students to integrate into the local community and to develop their understanding of Icelandic culture.

The language acquisition subject-group objectives represent some of the essential processes of language and have been organized under four communicative processes. They are as follows.

- A Listening
- B Reading
- C Speaking
- D Writing

Phases emergent to proficient are offered for Icelandic in all MYP year groups. Placement tasks, consisting of written and oral tasks, are used to determine the phase. The school utilizes ACTFL's inquiry-based framework and units.

For students in the emerging phase, lessons are designed to provide an enjoyable introduction to the language and culture. Students also learn the basic language necessary for simple day-to-day communications. Students who are capable and/or proficient in Icelandic study Icelandic at a higher level.

World Language Learning in 7-10 Grade.

Along with English and Icelandic, students in the IB program have the choice between Spanish and Danish (Language C). Spanish and Danish are both assessed using the IB Language Acquisition Assessment Criteria.

Here's a suggested draft for the section "Criteria for Opting Out of Language C" for your INB Language Policy:

Criteria for Opting Out of Language C

In some cases, students request to learn a different language C than one offered at our school. In order to opt out of our Language C offerings, and study independently instead, the following criteria must be met:

1. Written Curriculum: The alternative language program must follow a structured, written curriculum that outlines the learning objectives, content, and assessment strategies.
2. Teacher Contact: The student must be enrolled in a program with a teacher who serves as the primary contact for the school. This teacher should be responsible for instruction, student progress, and communication with the school.
3. Grade Issuance: The alternative language program must issue official grades that reflect the student's progress and achievement in the subject.
4. Feedback and Assessment: Regular feedback and assessments must be provided by the teacher to ensure ongoing evaluation of the student's learning.

English Language Learning in K-6 Grade

Standards based: AERO Common Core Plus

Our English program aims to help students master the skills of communication while learning to value the cultural heritage of the language in a multicultural setting. ISI adopted the AERO

Common Core Plus standards in English Language Arts in August, 2013. The standards and benchmarks for each grade level can be found here. In 2016, ISI formally adopted the World Language Standards for emergent bilinguals, including English.

Icelandic Language Learning in Grades K-6

Bilingual Stream: Icelandic as a Mother Tongue (Íslenska sem móðurmál)

Students in the bilingual stream study Icelandic as set by the Icelandic National Curriculum. Students who do not have Icelandic as a primary language receive support. In addition to Icelandic language classes, there is an emphasis on language acquisition in various core classes such as IPC and mathematics in the primary years.

English Stream: Icelandic Language & Culture (Íslensk tunga og menning)

Students in the English stream (grades K-6) take courses in Icelandic language and culture. Icelandic language and culture follows the World Languages Standards. All other classes, except for foreign language classes, are taught in English.

Support for students who are not proficient in languages of instruction

Teachers and support staff utilize English language learner (ELL) practices and differentiated approaches. This begins with the development of basic interpersonal communication skills. Teaching is targeted to support the development of language skills: reading, writing, listening and speaking. Teachers monitor and track the progress of students over time. The goal is to increase students' academic language development so they can fully access the curriculum.

Examples of practical language support measures for students developing their basic interpersonal communication skills:

- Drawers and resources are labeled in multiple languages. Daily routines, like the date and weather, are in multiple languages. Visuals are used to communicate ideas through pictures.
- Students and teachers utilize the support of Google Translate.
- The teacher works with students daily on phonics and simple comprehension activities.
- Student vocabulary books are used at home and at school.
- Teachers make recommendations for useful language learning websites to use at home.

- Use of native speakers (staff, students) to assist in communication and to check for comprehension
- One-on-One or small-group pull-out sessions; teacher conferences with older students.
- Use of curriculum which has been designed for language learners, eg Letterland, Total Physical Response, games, etc.

Key Definitions

Primary language: the language most used and with which the student is most familiar.

Bilingual: ability to receive and communicate ideas in two languages, and switch between both in a seamless manner, without translation.

Bi-literate: ability to read and write in both languages to an approximately equal degree of proficiency.

Bi-numerate: ability to perform mental calculations in the target language.
